

THOMAS V. ALIOTTI

Senior Vice President and General Manager
Activant Solutions
Automotive Business Group

Tom Aliotti is senior vice president and general manager of the Activant Solutions automotive business group, the leading provider of enterprise software, electronic catalog products, data services, and supply chain analytics for the motor vehicle aftermarket. Aliotti, who joined the company in 2005, has overseen the introduction of a broad range of innovative products, including the Activant[®] Eagle[®] for the Aftermarket and Activant Vision[®] distribution management systems, Activant Vista[®] market intelligence solution, and Activant LaserCat[®] 3 eCatalog.

Aliotti is a widely respected strategic operations and sales executive with nearly 25 years of experience with leading technology companies, including Oracle Corporation. Immediately prior to joining Activant, he was chief operating officer of Xporta Inc., a provider of global sourcing and supply chain technology solutions for clients such as Ingersoll-Rand, Newell Rubbermaid, Rockwell Automation, and Motorola. He previously served as vice president of worldwide sales for customer relationship management firm Satmetrix Systems, vice president of worldwide sales and services for e-marketing software developer Rubric, Inc., and vice president of ERP/supply chain practice for Cambridge Technology Partners.